GÖTEBORG BAROQUE, founded in 2003 by its artistic director Magnus Kjellson, focuses on the instrumental and vocal music of Sweden, Germany, and Italy.

Their concerts present the latest in historically-informed performance-practice ideas for the Baroque music, including the use of very few singers per part, a difficult but rewarding vocal practice that gives the music a clearness and transparency of text and musical counterpoint that has become one of the hallmarks of GÖTEBORG BAROQUE performances.

In this concert, the ensemble will perform music from the Düben collection in Uppsala.

Magnus Kjellson will also play organ pieces from the Baroque era on the internationally renowned North German Baroque Organ, inaugurated in 2000.
